

Board of Governors Queen Margaret's School

Mary DeLury, Chair

Mary is an entrepreneur and a Professional Forester who currently manages the Forest Operations with a First Nations Group from Northern BC. Mary has owned and operated a large logging business on Vancouver Island and had a successful Forestry Consulting business in the Interior. Mary attended Simon Fraser University where she obtained a Bachelor of Science degree and then after some time working in the forest industry, earned a Bachelor of Science in Forestry from the University of British Columbia. She has worked in the forest industry for over 25 years and attributes much of the foundation for her strong leadership and business understanding to the many years she spent as a tree-planter and a tree-planting supervisor. She started her first business in 1998 and has had successful businesses ever since.

Mary has a passion for learning and helping people. She loves the outdoors and is an avid photographer and hiker. She also enjoys fishing, hunting and exploring.

Mary has been on the Board at Queen Margaret's School since 2015 and has served as Chair since 2016. She brings energy, leadership and curiosity to the Board, and she is proud to have helped the School ready itself for its second century. Her two boys have been on the journey with her and are now in the Senior School.

Why QMS?

I have a passion for learning and I want to help allow children to express themselves authentically and effectively in the ever-changing and unknown world we live in today. I believe that QMS is an outstanding school that helps our youth do just that. I continue to enthusiastically support the school year after year because of the nurturing and academically exceptional experience that the children receive.

Ian Humphries, Vice Chair

Ian is a partner at Thorsteinssons LLP, Canada's largest law firm practicing exclusively in taxation, where he primarily provides advice to private corporations and their shareholders on taxation matters and estate planning. Prior to law, Ian worked in finance in Toronto as an investment banker.

Ian holds a dual Bachelor of Commerce and Bachelor of Arts degree from Queen's University as well as a J.D. degree from the University of British Columbia.

Outside his practice, Ian and his wife keep busy with their four boys who ensure they are never idle. While new to the area, they are proud residents and hope to give back to the exceptional Cowichan Valley and QMS community.

Why QMS?

QMS is a special place. I cannot think of many institutions that offer the unique combination of programming, personalized teaching, and a range of experiences that QMS provides its students and families.

As a parent, I take great comfort in knowing that my children and their peers are receiving both a world-class education and learning fundamental values through QMS and its educators.

We are fortunate to have QMS in our community.

Bruce Munro, Treasurer

Bruce holds a Bachelor of Commerce degree from the University of Alberta. Bruce was born and raised on Vancouver Island and now resides in the Cowichan Valley with his wife and their three children.

After his business education, Bruce returned to Vancouver Island and began his professional career in Nanaimo. For the past 20 years, he has helped structure, finance, build and manage senior and family rental housing.

Bruce is a strong supporter of the outdoors, Vancouver Island, and is a volunteer youth soccer coach in the Cowichan Valley.

Why QMS?

I am extremely happy and proud to lend my support and energy to QMS. I often refer to QMS as a “hidden jewel” because of the faculty’s unparalleled care and attentiveness to student success, the QMS devotion to balanced academic rigor, and the sense of community within QMS. QMS is a fantastic option for parents who want a very special community-based educational experience for their children, and being part of this exceptional learning environment is a highlight for me. We are all learners, and QMS has given so much to our family.

Sherra Collett, Secretary

Sherra holds a Bachelor of Science in Mathematics from UNBC and a Tech Diploma in Civil and Structural Engineering from BCIT. Born and raised in the Cowichan Valley, she returned home after a decade of education and work to reconnect with her family and community.

For the past 20 years, Sherra has worked in her family’s RV dealership, focusing on finance, while also building a commercial real estate investment company. In retirement, she has enjoyed using her professional experience to give back through community engagement and volunteer work throughout the Valley.

Sherra served on the Cowichan District Hospital Foundation for eight years prior to the arrival of her twin daughters in 2010 and has since rejoined the board. Being involved in healthcare within the Valley has remained a strong priority for her. She finds great joy in raising her family with her husband of 17 years and contributing her time and energy to many facets of the QMS community.

Why QMS?

The QMS campus has become a familiar place for my family as my children have been there since they were 3 and I feel a strong tie to make the School a place of connection, growth and experience.

Malti Devi, Governor

Malti is an accomplished art director, graphic designer, and photographer with extensive experience across visual communication, marketing, and cross-cultural project development. Known for her collaborative approach, strategic thinking, and ability to bring people together, she has worked with diverse organizations to develop impactful creative solutions and community-driven projects.

She is also the founder of The Devi Trust Foundation, a philanthropic organization dedicated to improving health, education, housing, and wellness for vulnerable populations locally and globally. Her work reflects a lifelong commitment to service, compassion, and empowering others.

A resident of the Cowichan Valley, Malti is an avid outdoor enthusiast, marathon runner, and mountaineer. Above all, she is a devoted mother and active community member who believes deeply in the power of education to transform lives.

Why QMS?

I have seen firsthand how QMS nurtures not only bright minds but kind hearts. This school embodies integrity, courage, and compassion—values that mirror my own. I will bring my time, skills, and heart to support our shared vision for excellence in education and well-being. Together, we can continue to strengthen the legacy of QMS—honouring its traditions while embracing innovation, inclusion, and sustainability.

John Garrad-Cole, Governor

John is an entrepreneur and business owner, and holds a First Class Degree in Economics from the University of Bristol. John is originally from the UK, having immigrated to Canada in 2009 with his wife, Leah. His career in the UK was spent in finance in London, working for investment banks where he provided corporate finance advice to public companies.

Since his move to Canada, John has focused on creating and running multiple consumer packaged goods companies, including Love Child Organics, one of Canada's largest organic baby food brands.

He and his family moved to the Cowichan Valley in 2022, motivated by the desire to send their children, Poppy ('27) and Cameron ('30) to QMS.

John is a keen skier, runner and cyclist, and he and his family are enjoying exploring their new surroundings on Vancouver Island.

Why QMS?

My wife and I knew as soon as we visited QMS that it was the right school for our children. It offers a rigorous academic programme combined with an extensive extracurricular offering, in a warm and supportive environment. I'm delighted to have the opportunity to help support the continued growth and development of the school.

Mandeep Sindhi, Governor

Mandeep is a seasoned finance executive with over 22 years of banking experience. He has transitioned through various roles to his current position as Director, Corporate Credit within First West Credit Union. Mandeep has a strong working knowledge of governance and oversight and holds degrees in Accounting & Finance from UNBC.

Mandeep is passionate about both people and community and has previously sat on several boards in various capacities. He currently resides in Duncan, BC and enjoys outdoor activities and giving back to his community through organizations such as the Chemainus Hospital Foundation, Canucks Autism Network, Cowichan Women Against Violence and others.

Ryan Smith, Governor

Ryan was born and raised in London, Ontario, where he attended the University of Western Ontario and graduated with a degree in Economics, focusing on predictive analytics. With a keen interest in exploring unconventional career paths, he moved to Chicago after graduation to co-found a tech start-up with friends. The venture was a success, and after selling the business, he found the freedom to choose a lifestyle that balanced professional interests with a love for the outdoors. This led to a relocation to Vancouver Island, where he could fully embrace the natural beauty and active lifestyle the region offers.

Since then, he has turned his professional focus to real estate development and management, bringing his entrepreneurial skills and analytics expertise to this new field.

Outside of work, Ryan is a dedicated outdoor enthusiast, diving into hiking, biking, skiing, and fitness whenever he can. His commitment to personal growth and new life experiences aligns well with his decision to join the school's Board of Governors, where he can support an institution that means so much to his family.

Why QMS?

My daughter, a proud member of the Class of '33, has attended Queen Margaret's School since Pre-K and has loved every moment. I share her enthusiasm for the school and look forward to contributing to a positive and enriching environment where my daughter, and all students, can continue to thrive.

Jennifer Stone, Governor

Jen Stone was raised in Waterton Park, Alberta, and is a proud 1997 graduate of Queen Margaret's School. With over 20 years of leadership experience in post-secondary education, municipal government, banking, fine art auctioneering, and hospitality, Jen is known for guiding strategic vision and fostering collaboration. Currently serving as Executive Director of Strategy, Planning, and Transformation at Camosun College, she oversees institutional strategic planning, educational quality assurance, data analytics and policy development. Jen is passionate about advancing both individual and organizational capacities, always striving to enhance institutional success.

A lifelong learner, Jen holds bachelor degrees in History and International Relations from the University of Calgary, a Master of Letters in the History of Art and Connoisseurship from the University of Glasgow, a Graduate Certificate in Executive Coaching from Royal Roads University, and a Certificate in Strategic Management from Mount Royal University. Her expertise spans project management, change leadership, executive coaching, and stakeholder engagement.

Why QMS?

My strong ties to Queen Margaret's School remain today, where I cherish fond memories of sports, riding, singing in the chapel choir and my roles as a Prefect and Head of St. Hugh's. I value the lifelong friendships I formed during my time at QMS and consider it a privilege to give back to the community that helped shape me into who I am today.

Alison Taylor, Governor

Alison is a partner at Taylor Pelton, a Cowichan Valley law firm. Alison holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of British Columbia and a Bachelor of Laws degree from Queen's University. She has been practicing law since 2005.

While at UBC, Alison played varsity field hockey, winning two Canada West titles and three national championship titles. Always up for an adventure, Alison has completed several marathons, including Boston and New York, she has summited Mount Kilimanjaro, completed Ironman Canada and skied off piste in the Monashees and the Alps.

Alison served as the chair of the Cowichan District Hospital Foundation from 2014–2020. During this time, the Foundation raised over $9 million to improve health care services at the Cowichan District Hospital.

Why QMS?

The QMS community has given so much to my children in a relatively short period of time. I am hopeful that I will be able to make a meaningful contribution to this community through service on the Board of Governors.
